PDA Professional Development Support Fund

To support professional development during this unprecedented time, the UGA Postdoctoral Association (PDA) board has voted to use a portion of its 2020-2021 budget to support UGA postdocs who have attended, or plan to attend, professional meetings.

The board will consider applications from UGA postdocs who attended, or plan to attend, national and international conferences/meetings as well as those participating in training/development opportunities that are related to the postdoc’s research.

The PDA strongly encourages UGA postdocs to participate in such professional development, and therefore will consider applications requesting financial support, up to $150.00. The PDA will be giving a total of 20 awards for the 2020-2021 academic year.

Please see the application form for further details

Apply today to participate in the University of Utah Grant Writing Coaching Group Study!

- Are you finding it challenging to learn the intricacies of writing NIH-style research proposals?
- Do you struggle with making a compelling case to reviewers for the importance of your research project?
- Are you having trouble getting consistent feedback from experts as you write research proposals?

If any or all of these apply to you, then consider applying for entry into the University of Utah Grant Writing Coaching Group Study.

Applications for Cohort 4 are due by April 16, 2021.

Cancer Prevention Fellowship Program

Cancer Prevention Fellowship Program (CPFP)
National Cancer Institute (NCI) in Rockville, MD

The CPFP is a multidisciplinary postdoctoral cancer prevention fellowship that offers support to Fellows for up to 4 years while they pursue their own cancer prevention-related research with the guidance of NCI/FDA mentorship. They also sponsor a 1-year MPH program for Fellows who may not have enough background in biostatistics, epidemiology, or other public health disciplines.
They have an application season that opens each May 1st and typically closes the 3rd week of August. Once closed, applications are reviewed with the top ~25 selected to interview in October for 10-15 available slots. New Fellows begin their time at NCI the following June and are in the Program for up to 4 years. It should be noted that applicants need to be either US Citizens or Permanent Residents, residents of Costa Rica or Ireland, and have less than 5 years of postdoc cancer-related research experience.

The CPFP is hosting two information sessions next week in the lead-up to the opening of our application season on May 1, 2021.

Community-based participatory research: 4 – Selection, inclusion & access

Tuesday, April 27, 1 p.m

This is the fourth in a series of presentations about incorporating CBPR into your research program. Inclusion and access to research are important values of the Human Research Protection Program and one of the main goals for the CBPR series. Researchers have a foundational role in broadening the scope and involvement of volunteers, subjects, ideas, etc., in the various fields of research. This session will discuss what researchers can do to ensure proper selection, inclusion and access in the research community. In continuation with previous sessions, we will hear from individuals in the community who have relevant experiences with these three notions.

Community-based participatory research: 5 – Consent

Tuesday, May 4, 1 p.m

This is the fifth and final event in a series of presentations about incorporating CBPR into your research program. Further details available soon.

UGA Black Alumni Oral History Project (VIRTUAL)

April 10th – 20th, 2021

Black students who attended the University of Georgia during the 1960s and 1970s paved the way for the more diverse culture that exists on campus today, but their stories are not well known. To help fill that gap in the historical record, the Hargrett Rare Book and Manuscript Library created the Black Alumni Oral History Project in 2019. Started with funding from a Giving Voice to the Voiceless grant, established by Charlayne Hunter-Gault and her husband, Ron Gault, the project seeks to collect stories from Black alumni, documenting their experiences at UGA and expanding an understanding of the Black experience on campus over the decades.

This collection is available here: https://t.uga.edu/6bi

Exhibition: Georgia Trailblazers Panels
April 11th – 21st, 2021

In January 1961, Hamilton Holmes and Charlayne Hunter became the first Black students to enroll at the University of Georgia. Their courageous act was a landmark event in University history and in the broader struggle for civil rights. Created to honor the 60th anniversary of desegregation at UGA, this exhibit displays original items held by the UGA Special Collections Libraries and items loaned by the Holmes family. Graphic panels will highlight moments in Black history at UGA over the decades - marking additional milestones and the evolving campus community.

Panels are on display in the Pecan Gallery of the UGA Center for Continuing Education & Hotel. The panels, sponsored by UGA Public Service and Outreach, are a preview of the larger exhibit in the UGA Main Library.

Making Space: Fighting for Inclusion, Building Community at UGA
April 11th – 21st, 2021

In 1961, Hamilton Holmes and Charlayne Hunter became the first Black students to enroll at the University of Georgia. Facing down adversity, they succeeded in desegregating the campus and winning a battle in the broader struggle for civil rights. However, the process of integration and building a more inclusive university continues today. Making Space: Fighting for Inclusion, Building Community at UGA explores the stories of these trailblazing students and those that followed them in shaping the campus.
